

Course form to fill in (2022-2023)

Course title:

Introduction to Stock Market Investing

Staff responsible for the course:

Lecturers:

Antonio Figueiredo

1) COURSE PRESENTATION

Aims:

Draw up a list of competencies and/or skills that the student should have acquired or improved at the end of the course.

You must fill in the field under the format “the student should be able to...” using action verbs such as define, realise, control... (This description should not take more than ten lines)

At the end of the course, the student should be able to:

Identify several financial instruments for gaining exposure to stock market returns, calculate periodic returns, calculate standard deviation of returns and correlation of returns between two risky assets, recognize the importance of portfolio diversification, identify the main factors/indicators and their impacts on stock market returns, recognize the implications of the Efficient Market Hypothesis to technical and fundamental analysis, calculate required rate or returns using Capital Asset Pricing Model given Beta and equity risk premium, identify factors in ESG investing, calculate and interpret some basic financial ratios, calculate intrinsic value of a stock using comparable ratios, calculate intrinsic value of a stock using dividend discount model and distinguish the impact of the business cycle on different industries.

Prerequisites:

You must not write courses' codes or names, but identify the preliminary skills as the knowledge or the know-how needed to efficiently follow this course.

Write it out in terms of knowledge and methodologies required to follow this course (this would help students from direct entry to position themselves). (This description should not take more than five lines)

Basic algebra including exponentiation properties and calculations, basic Excel skills including relative and absolute cell referencing and basic Excel graphing functionality.
